Program Objectives

B.A. Political Science

Upon successful completion of this program, a student will be able to:

1. Relate the evolution of a country's political system to general historical events in that country.
2. Relate a region's past and present political systems to the geographical characteristics of that region.
3. Analyze the American system of government using knowledge of significant events in its legislative, executive, and judicial history.
4. Analyze the systems of government in other countries and examine their relationships to the American system of government.
5. Read current literature in their profession, assimilate and integrate the ideas found in this literature, and communicate these ideas effectively in written and oral form with the aid of modern technology.
