Students will work on the Point Park News Service, a joint partnership with the Pittsburgh Tribune-Review. They cover stories, take photographs and post them on the Web site. The articles can then be picked up for publication in the Trib or other papers. Students will assist the director in Web site work, photography and editing duties, as well as some smaller writing assignments.