PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this program, a student will be able to:

1. Demonstrate a competence in performance, playwriting, directing, or production.
2. Recognize the range of opportunities for careers in theatre and related areas; develop a personal career plan that promotes independent artistic and intellectual development.
3. Place theatre in historical, cultural, and stylistic contexts through written and oral analysis of theatrical works.
4. Effectively communicate complex theatrical ideas, concepts, and requirements to professionals and laypersons; demonstrate teamwork in theatre production.
5. Demonstrate competence in an area other than performance, including major related fields like directing, playwriting, business, or media and technology for the performing arts (through a progressive sequence of related courses) or in another discipline (through a minor or double major).
